CONVENING CROSS-SECTOR INDUSTRY LEADERS TO ADVANCE PUBLIC HEALTH

With COVID-19 and other infectious diseases continuing to impact individuals, businesses, and governments across the globe, now is the time for convening world leaders in science, technology, business, philanthropy, politics, and global health. Texas Biomed knows firsthand how these conversations lead to learning, to partnerships and to real change around complex issues facing communities today.

Texas Biomed invites you to be a part of this critical global dialogue, by becoming a strategic partner at the 2023 Global Health Symposium. The 3rd annual conference will provide new information in health policy and infectious disease research while cultivating strong collaboration across disciplines, sectors, initiatives, and countries.
